

Chief Technical Officer

About Alpha Therapy Solutions

Welcome to one of Sweden's most innovative young start-ups. Alpha Therapy Solutions (ATS) is a knowledge-driven company based in Gothenburg, Sweden, that is tackling one of the biggest challenges in global health, head on. The production technology that we are developing will significantly facilitate the development of life-saving radiopharmaceuticals that will be of great use in the global fight against cancer.

The ATS family is dedicated and tight knit, and we offer our employees significant freedom and short decision pathways. This makes work here both fun and dynamic!

We are now looking to expand our family by hiring a CTO who will play an indispensable role in developing and launching our products on market. As CTO, you will help ATS, and the world, get the most out of this technology.

Role

In this role, you will be responsible for the products and services developed, sold and delivered by ATS. The role involves coordinating with customers, partner companies and consultants and is centred around technical development, intellectual property, and regulatory affairs. You will work closely with ATS CEO Milton Lönnroth, and you will lead the ATS technical team comprising of yourself, a radiochemist, as well as individuals from the ATS board and owners. The role is 60 – 100% of a full-time role and will start immediately or upon agreement.

What You'll Do

- Coordinate and manage ATS' ongoing and future product development projects
- Work closely with customers, partners, and the ATS technical team in order to develop customised product/service offerings
- Spearhead ATS' regulatory affairs work, including product validation and regulatory certification
- Together with ATS' IP consultants, develop and maintain ATS' IP-portfolio

Who You Are

- You have a master's degree (or higher) in a technical subject area
- You have been part of at least one startup journey in a similar role, taking a high-tech product from early idea/prototype to commercial system
- You have both people and project management experience
- You are fluent in English
- As an individual, you are excited by new challenges, enjoy travelling, and able to work both independently and in collaboration with others

Why ATS?

ATS is a young company aiming to make a large and lasting impact on global health. In this role, you will not only be given the freedom to define and develop yourself and your role, but the work you do will also directly impact the global fight against cancer.

Interested?

To apply, please send your CV and Cover Letter to milton.lonnroth@alphatherapysolutions.com